SHIELDS'S GROVE PLAN INCLUDES TENNIS COURTS

Ambitious Project for Playground Development Submitted to Administrative Board.

When the committee of citizens from the Shields's Grove recreation center appeared before the Administrative Board on Friday morning with the suggested design for making the present sunken tract in Shields's Grove into a municipal athletic field and children's playground, it mentioned one phase of recreation which attracted particular attention.

In all American cities, playgrounds and athletic fields are being established to allow the youth ample exercise for body development. It has been proven that these movements have resulted in community betterment. A large municipal athletic field and children's playground, such as is proposed for Shields's Grove, would, it is claimed, have a like effect on the whole city of Richmond.

One of the main features of this athletic field is the public tennis courts. It is proposed to build twelve concrete courts. This construction will give a surface which will hold all times in excellent condition for playing. The question of a "rainy morning" need not spoil the pleasures of the Saturday afternoon exercise looked forward to by many men confined to offices throughout the week.

As to the question of whether or not tennis would be a game enjoyed by the many, it is only necessary to list either Washington, Baltimore or Philadelphia to find that these cities are using every available space not needed for playgrounds to construct courts. In the newly designed Potomac Park in Washington, the city proposes to build about twenty courts. Patterson Park, Baltimore, has fifteen, and Prospect Park, Brooklyn, has courts enough in one area to accommodate 3,600 people in one day. To allow the use of the tennis courts by the many, each player must secure a permit, which entitles him to a one and one-half hour period, after which the courts are turned over to another.

This system allows the many men of the city an opportunity of getting a chance at this beneficial exercise. The design for the athletic field in Shields's Grove, as submitted by the committee of citizens on Friday, includes twelve tennis courts, with an ideal location for more if the use demands it. The location of the athletic field is but six minutes' walk from the Main Street car line and two from the Riverside.

W. HENRY BAKER HEADS PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

Well-Known Conductor to Direct Series of Concerts by Local Musicians.

STANDARDS HAVE BEEN RAISED

Orchestra of Fifty-Five Pieces Doing Much for Musical Development of Richmond—Will Play at Great Reunion Concert.

W. HENRY BAKER.

Great satisfaction is expressed over the choice of W. Henry Baker as conductor for the coming series of concerts given by the Richmond Philharmonic Orchestra.

There can be no doubt that the rapid rise of this organization from a small beginning to its present height is to a large extent due to the work of Mr. Baker. Under his direction the new players attracted to the orchestra have swelled the number to fifty-five. The class of music played by the orchestra has been raised, until to-day the programs represent the very best in classical and popular compositions.

Few cities of the size of Richmond can boast of so fine an amateur orchestra, and it is a tribute to the musical taste of this city that this progress has been made without financial aid.

MEMBERS WILL PLAY AT REUNION CONCERT

It may be of interest to know that more than half of the big orchestra which will play at the City Auditorium on Wednesday night, with the chorus of 600, are members of the Philharmonic Orchestra, who are donating their services for this great event of Reunion Week.

With a conductor of the caliber of Mr. Baker, there can be no doubt that the coming year of the Philharmonic will be the most successful in its entire history.

The music committee of the orchestra, composed of Mr. Baker and Mr. Daprich, is now at work on the programs for the coming season, and many new delights are promised in the way of soloists, as well as the orchestral numbers.

SLOW TO FILE NOTICES

Henrico Candidates Confused by Provisions of New Primary Law.

Prospective candidates for offices in Henrico County at the coming primary are slow in filing their notices with the chairman of the Henrico County Democratic Committee. While more than a score have offered themselves for some of the numerous offices, there are only a few that have filed the proper notice. George Preston, chairman of the Democratic Committee, called attention to this yesterday, as there is only a few more days left in which candidates may comply with the new primary law. The time limit expires the evening of June 3. The extra conditions imposed by the new primary law is said to be the reason for the tardiness in filing the notices.

MONUMENT TO TYLER ERECTED IN HOLLYWOOD

Congress of United States Marks Grave of Tenth President.

NO FORMAL EXERCISES HELD

Granite Shaft Stands on Concrete Base Over Body of Great Virginian and His Second Wife—Text of Inscription.

Without ceremonies of any kind, a granite and bronze monument was erected yesterday by the United States government over the grave in Hollywood Cemetery of John Tyler, tenth President of the United States. The fact that the memorial would be erected was almost unknown in Richmond, and it will be seen for the first time by thousands who will attend memorial exercises at Hollywood to-morrow.

The monument cost $10,000, the money having been appropriated by a special act of Congress, and was made by T. F. McGann & Sons Co., of Boston.

Placed in individual crates, its several parts were received here about ten days ago and assembled under the supervision of Colonel Samuel H. Yonge, assistant United States engineer, in charge of James River improvements.

The concrete foundation upon which this base stands the granite shaft, seven feet high, is a handsome pedestal. On the foundation a granite platform ten feet square was placed and on this platform a granite base five feet square and three and a half feet high. On this base stands the granite shaft seven feet high, surmounted by a bronze ornamental figure about five feet high.

TEXT OF INSCRIPTION ON GRANITE PEDESTAL

Immediately in front of the shaft—on the east side—is a bronze bust of President Tyler on a handsome pedestal. Inscribed on the face of the pedestal, in bronze letters, is the following legend: "John Tyler, President of the United States, 1841-1845. Born in Charles City County, Virginia, March 29, 1790. Died in the city of Richmond, January 18, 1862."

Two allegorical figures are cut in low relief on the shaft. On the north face the figure is that of "Memory"; on the south face that of "Republic"; holding a shield on which are the seals of the United States and the State of Virginia.

On the west face of the shaft, in sunken letters, is the following inscription: "John Tyler married, first, Letitia Christian, born November 12, 1790; died September 16, 1842; interred at Cedar Grove, New Kent County, Va. Married, second, Julia Gardiner, born July 23, 1820; died July 10, 1889; interred by his side under this monument."

Declared Insane.
Andrew Hockendorf, a native of Germany, was declared insane yesterday by a lunacy commission, composed of Drs. Bright and Martin and Magistrate H. S. Sunday, of Henrico County. He will be sent to Williamsburg.
